Democratic Gain Could Set Record

Hoping To Eclipse 1932 Mark When Twelve Seats Won

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — An estimated 48 million Americans cast ballots today in voting which may produce some spectacular overruns in governorships — notably in New York and California — as well as upheavals in Senate and House contests.

Democrats aimed at a record in Senate gains to eclipse the 12-seat gain they made in 1932.

Republicans, ducking a barrage of contrary predictions, still talked hopefully of a last-hour rescue by the voters from what looked like a possibly devastating string of congressional defeats stretching from coast to coast.

Alaska Votes Later
Final soundings of grass root opinion appeared to point to Democratic gains of from 8 to 12 Senate seats, including that wrested from GOP Sen. Frederick G. Payne by Gov. Edmund S. Muskie in Maine's September election. This did not take into account Alaska's two seats, to be filled Nov. 25.

Democrats now outnumber Senate Republicans 49-47. With Muskie's vote they need only to hold their own in today's contests to have the required 50 majority after Alaska adds its two.

Test readings from around the country showed the Democrats might pick up from 17 to 40 House seats and possibly more. But if the Democratic rocket went only that high, it would fall far short of the 87 seats the party took from the Republicans in 1932. Democrats now outnumber House Republicans 235-200. A majority in the next Congress, with a new seat for Alaska, will be 219.

In hotly contested governor's races, Democrats were expected to eke out a net gain of from one to three in what might become some spectacular trading of state-house control by the two parties. Democratic governors now outnumber Republicans 29-19.

Taking the spotlight was New York's battle of the millionaires, the effort of Republican Nelson Rockefeller to take the governorship away from Democrat Averell Harriman. Rockefeller, a potential bidder for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination if he wins, was given a slight edge over Harriman in final pre-vote canvasses. On the other hand, GOP Rep. Kenneth B. Keating appeared likely to trail Democrat Frank Hogan in (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Fliers Complete Week-In Flight

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Two fliers completed a week in the air Monday in their attempt to break the 50-day endurance record.

Hoping to extend their flight pattern to California cities and possibly Yuma, Ariz., Robert Timm and Chuck Kaskella summoned a California crop-duster to try air refueling of their light plane. So far they've refueled by hoisting a hose on a hook from a truck speeding along a dry lake bed.

O'Connor In Hospital For Regular Checkup

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Actor Donald O'Connor was in Mt. Sinai Hospital today for what his doctor described as a routine checkup.

The entertainer, admitted Monday will remain hospitalized for several days, Dr. Irving Lasky said.

Union Shop Ban Laws Facing Greatest Test In Six States

WASHINGTON (AP) — The battles in other parts of the nation.

The right-to-work proposal is similar in each of the six states — whether to adopt a state ban against management-union contracts or similar agreements which require employees to become union members.

In advance of today's voting, both advocates and opponents indicated uncertainty over the outcome.

Both sides said they expect the voting to be closest in Ohio, Kansas and Idaho.

For the most part, the union shop ban is opposed by organized labor while the bulk of the support for it has come from business groups.

Both sides have spent heavily on the fight, concentrating their efforts chiefly in Ohio and California.

The fight has been bitter in both states — particularly in California, where it became involved in Sen. William F. Knowland's Republican campaign for governor. Knowland advocates right-to-work as part of what he calls a program to provide democracy to union members.

Opponents contend right-to-work is a disguise for union busting and a move to wreck unions.

West Allies Ask Weapon Check Setup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Western Allies will ask the Soviet Union to join in developing a vast military inspection system capable of blocking a surprise nuclear attack by any great power for perhaps 10 years.

Any system worked out now would have to be overhauled after a decade, it was explained, to take into account new weapons.

The proposed system would mean an end to much secrecy in the Soviet Union, and officials are not optimistic.

The first round of talks opening Monday in Geneva, Switzerland, is designed to be highly technical — to see whether Communists and Western experts can agree on the requirements of a workable inspection arrangement.

If the meeting makes progress, officials indicated, the United States is prepared to provide the Soviets with some now-secret information about radar and probably other devices which could be used in detecting military mobilization moves, missile and aircraft flights and the like.

The technical meeting may be followed — again depending on its success — by later political negotiations. The powers then would be confronted with specific questions of the location and area of inspection zones to begin pulling the proposed system into operation.

The Soviets have said they intend to raise the question of zones at the conference beginning next week. American and Allied negotiators will not agree to deal with such matters at this time, informants here said. Hence the first round of talks at Geneva may be a wrangle over what should be talked about.

Blind, Handless Veteran Begins Global Journey

LONDON (AP) — Alan Nichols, a 70-year-old veteran of World War I, set off for New York today on a round-the-world airline flight. He is blind, partly deaf, and he has no hands. He is traveling alone.

"I proved to myself years ago that it was possible to overcome physical handicaps," he said. "This journey may help to prove it to other people."

He was wounded in an explosion while serving as a bomb instructor in World War I. Since then he has worked with St. Dunstan's Homes for Blind Veterans.

Maryland Vote Appears Heavy

BALTIMORE (AP) — Early voting was heavier than expected throughout Maryland today. In the past, this usually has worked to the advantage of Republicans in this heavily Democratic state.

It was perfect autumn weather. Forecasters had predicted a turnout of about 65 per cent of the 1,200,000 eligible voters. But apparently the vigorous campaigns for the U.S. Senate seat, and the governorship agitated more interest than the pollsters expected.

These Pranks Not So Funny

PAINTSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — County Judge Bill Ward issued breach of peace warrants for some Halloween pranks he said carried things too far. Ward said several youths, none younger than 18, set up roadblocks, then tossed rocks and cans at the stopped vehicles, breaking out about six windshield shields, and sending one man to a hospital.

Boy Confesses Scout Killing For Heckling

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — A 13-year-old boy has admitted, police said, the fatal shooting of his 12-year-old school playmate last Friday because he heckled him.

But investigators present at a lie detector test Monday night said the boy related that after shooting David Benson once in the body he took $8 from him and as the victim pleaded for his life, shot him in the head and watched as the body rolled into a ravine.

Sheriff Roy Doerflinger said the boy, Raleigh Robinette, admitted after three hours of questioning that he killed the Benson boy. Doerflinger quoted the boy as saying he was mad because Benson was heckling him.

The body of Benson, a Boy Scout and only son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Benson, was found Saturday morning in a ravine near Joliet.

Robinette was questioned after he was learned the Benson boy had gone to the Robinette home with Raleigh after leaving school where they were seventh grade classmates.

Seaman Killed In Rough Seas

HONOLULU (AP) — One crewman was killed and seven were injured when the Liberian tanker World Glory encountered heavy seas en route to the Persian Gulf from Long Beach, Calif., the Navy said Monday night.

No details on the accident were available.

The World Glory, 700 miles northwest of Midway, gained Navy permission to enter Midway Harbor to obtain treatment for the injured.

First Vote Returns In New Hampshire

WATERVILLE, N.H. (AP) — This tiny community in central New Hampshire today was the first in the nation to report election results.

Its tabulations were completed a few minutes after midnight after the town's 22 voters cast ballots at the home of Town Clerk Wendell Stevenson.

The vote for governor was 15 for Republican candidate Wesley Powell, six for his Democratic opponent, Bernard L. Boutin, and one blank.

On the rest of the ballot, the voters went solidly Republican, except for two votes cast for a Democratic candidate for the Governor's Council.

Cuban Ballot Gives Batista Protege Win

BULLETIN

HAVANA (P) — Former Premier Andres Rivero Aguirre has won election by a wide margin to succeed his political sponsor, President Fulgencio Batista, incomplete returns showed today.

HAVANA (AP) — Mounting returns today apparently assured ex-Premier Andres Rivero Aguirre of election as president to succeed his political sponsor, President Fulgencio Batista.

A light turnout and bloodshed marked the heavily guarded balloting in the revolt-torn nation Monday, but lopsided early figures from the four-man race indicated a landslide for Rivero Aguirre.

Unofficial tabulations from 3,717 — or 42 per cent — of the island's 8,521 precincts gave: Rivero Aguirre 439,991 votes; Carlos Marquez Sterling 100,528; former President Ramon Grau San Martin 68,649; Alberto Salas Amaro 7,754.

Returns were lacking on other races. But government quarters expressed belief most of their candidates for the Senate, House, six governorships and 126 mayoralities were being swept into office with Rivero Aguirre.

Hundreds of thousands of the nation's 2,870,000 eligible voters — perhaps as many as 60 per cent — stayed away from the polls. Apathy and fear were factors.

Rebel leader Fidel Castro had called for a boycott. With eight candidates killed during the campaigning, Castro threatened death to all other candidates and reprisals against Cubans who voted.

Government sources predicted, however, that final returns would show about 65 per cent had disregarded Castro's warnings and voted.

Film Actress Weeps As Marriage Voided

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Weeping, actress Barbara Lang won an annulment of her two-year marriage to actor Alan Wells. Miss Lang, 26, obtained the decree on grounds that Wells, 32, married her in Ensenada, Mexico, 10 months before his divorce from actress Claudia Barrett was final.

St. Peter's was resplendent with red damask and gold, blazing with 350,000 electric light bulbs and flickering candles. The vast audience included prelates of the church, representatives of foreign governments, papal nobility — and simple priests, nuns and Romans.

President Eisenhower was represented by Secretary of Labor James Mitchell, Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy, and Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, former ambassador to Italy.

The impressive spectacle began with a long procession of prelates and nobles into the portico of the basilica. Purple-clad bearers carried the Pope, who sat on a portable throne.

Ike Casts Vote In Speedy Time Near His Home

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower whisked in and out of a voting booth in 24 seconds today, capping his personal campaign for election of a Republican Congress.

The smiling President cast his ballot at 10 a.m., at the Barlow Fire Hall a few miles from his farm home. He was No. 86 to vote.

Eisenhower flew from Washington by helicopter and was on the ground only 11 minutes. He traveled back to the White House immediately after voting.

John XXIII Gets Crown In Basilica

Ancient Ceremony Staged As 200,000 Assemble In Square

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII was crowned today in glittering medieval ceremonies investing him as the 262nd spiritual ruler of the Roman Catholic Church.

A mighty roar went up from some 200,000 persons in the great square of St. Peter's at the climactic moment in the coronation of the successor to Pope Pius XII.

Nicola Cardinal Canali, aged pre-dean of the College of Cardinals, placed the beehive-shaped tiara of jewel-encrusted gold on the head of the shrapnel's son from a little north Italian village.

There were more than four hours of impressive religious rites inside the vast basilica of St. Peter's.

Elected Week Ago

The coronation took place on the same central balcony overlooking the square on which Pope John made his first appearance a week ago today after his election by the College of Cardinals.

All the pomp and ceremony of the Roman Catholic Church were mustered for the coronation rites. But there was humility, too, in the presence of the pontiff's family. Three brothers, a sister and numerous nephews and nieces were present, dressed in black peasant Sunday best. They watched in awe, weeping with emotion, as their kinsman, the former Angelo Giuseppe Cardinal Roncalli, went through the coronation ceremony.

Through it all the 76-year-old former patriarch of Venice remained serene, often smiling benignly. His voice throughout the long mass as he greeted the Catholic hierarchy of the world remained clear and resonant.

The crowd began to roar as 84-year-old Cardinal Canali took the crown in his hands and prepared to place it on the pontiff's head. The pontiff adjusted the crown himself and looked solemnly out into the crowd.

The Pope rose slowly and chanted his "urbi et orbi" — the traditional blessing of the pontiff to the City of Rome and the world. The crowd remained silent throughout his recitation.

For the first time in history, millions of West Europeans witnessed the coronation of a pope through the agency of television. The Pope slowly made the sign of the Cross in several directions at the end, and after the "amen," the crowd thundered wildly, shouting "Viva il Papa!" — Long Live the Pope — over and over.

Mingling in the roar, the great campanone, the master bell of St. Peter's began to toll, and the lesser bells of Rome's churches took up the Carol of triumph.

More than 50,000 persons had jammed the vast reaches of St. Peter's Basilica for the solemn Pontifical Mass and other religious rites which precede the outdoor coronation.

St. Peter's was resplendent with red damask and gold, blazing with 350,000 electric light bulbs and flickering candles. The vast audience included prelates of the church, representatives of foreign governments, papal nobility — and simple priests, nuns and Romans.

President Eisenhower was represented by Secretary of Labor James Mitchell, Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy, and Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, former ambassador to Italy.

Reds Contend Chiang Using Poison Shells

Gas Charge Aired By Peiping Radio Worries Formosa

TAIPEI (UPI) — The Communists claimed today that U. S. supplied guns on Quemoy fired poison-gas shells at the Red-held mainland Monday, and alarmed Nationalists charged that the Reds are preparing to gas the defenders of the tiny outpost island.

A Peiping broadcast beamed at Formosa leveled the charge late today. The Nationalists denied it with a rapidity that reflected their concern.

"This is a shameless lie, calculated to pave the way for Communist adoption of such weapons," snapped Rear Adm. Liu Hsiang, spokesman of the Nationalist Defense Ministry, less than an hour after the broadcast.

"We have no such weapons. The United States never supplied us with such weapons. We never intend to use such weapons against our own people on the mainland, who are held captive by the Communists."

Jin said Gen. "Tiger" Wang Shu-ming, the Nationalist chief of staff, personally ordered the immediate denial.

"I want to warn the Communists: if they resort to such weapons, they must bear all the consequences," the admiral said.

The Red broadcast said 14 Communist soldiers were "affected" by the alleged attack, which involved gas of an unspecified type. The Communist charge, leveled during a lull in the Reds' "cat and mouse" campaign against Quemoy. The Communist guns which hurled 39,152 shells at the outpost islands Monday were silent up to 3 p.m. today — well after the hour when Monday's massive bombardment began.

Singer's Wife Hurt In Fall, Listed Critical

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An overdose of sleeping pills followed by a fall from a stretcher has left singer Allan Jones' hairless wife in critical condition.

Police said Mary Florsheim Picking Jones, 38, apparently attempted suicide after an argument with her husband. But Jones denied it.

"There was no suicide intent. It was just an unconscious accident," he said.

Mrs. Jones is heirless to the Florsheim shoe fortune. She and the singer were married last December — the day he divorced actress Irene Hervey, his wife of more than 20 years.

Father Accused In Tot Beating

WASHINGTON (AP) — Police charged Lee Ward, 37, with cruelty to children today after they found his five-year-old daughter lying beaten and bloody in front of his home.

The child, Patricia Ann, was taken to Children's Hospital, where attendants described her condition as good.

Police Pvt. Sam Selby said the child had been ill and had vomited several times before the beating.

Neighbors called Selby to the scene after they heard Patricia Ann screaming. The officer said there were several large welts on her body and her mouth was bleeding.

Expansion Approved

U.S., Russians Agree On Disarming Group

By TOM HOGGE
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union's return to the U.N. Disarmament Commission was assured today after approval of a compromise enlarging the group to include all 51 U.N. members for the next year.

After U.S. and Soviet agreement on the compromise, the U.N. Political Committee voted 78-0 Monday night to approve the omnibus commission. France and Cuba abstained, and Jordan was absent.

A plenary meeting of the Assembly was called for this afternoon to give final approval.

The outcome of the long dispute was a reverse for the West and a feather in the Soviet cap. It remained to be seen whether it would bring disarmament any closer.

The Soviets for the past year had boycotted the commission, which the last Assembly expanded from 12 to 25 members. The Soviets contended the commission makeup was weighted against them.

The United States and Britain had maintained that an 81-member commission would be too unwieldy for useful negotiations. They said it would become another propaganda forum.

With the Soviet Union adamant holding out and smaller nations anxious for some break in the deadlock, the Western Allies finally agreed to try the enlargement for a year.

There was considerable anticipation that the commission, eventually would set up small subcommittees to do the actual negotiating, the plan followed in the past when only 12 nations made up the parent group.

Guild Granted H-T Pay Boost

NEW YORK (UPI) — The New York Herald Tribune reached a tentative agreement Monday night with the New York Newspaper Guild on a new two-year contract calling for a total wage increase of 7 per cent.

The union previously had reached tentative agreements with the World-Telegram and Sun, the Times, the News Mirror, and Journal-American. All the agreements provide for a 54 weekly increase for the first year, $3 for the second and other provisions.

STORRS, Conn. (UPI) — Royal E. Thompson Sr., 55, a maintenance man at the University of Connecticut, died Monday on the day of his retirement.

Strikers Seen Turning Down Offer By Airline

WASHINGTON (AP)—Amid union predictions of a unanimous rejection, striking mechanics begin voting today on a company offer aimed at settling a 19-day-old walkout against Capital Airlines.

The International Assn. of Machinists scheduled balloting on the Capital offer for today in Washington and Pittsburgh and tomorrow in Chicago and Detroit.

The union recommended rejection. And Robert T. Quick, president of the machinists' Capital District, said:

"It looks like we'll get an unanimous 'no' vote."

Capital, whose entire operations have been halted by the walkout, is offering a 30-cent an hour pay increase, plus fringe benefits and an additional 5 cents an hour next Oct. 1. Before the strike Capital mechanics averaged $2.54 an hour.

Capital spokesmen said the offer matches one made a week ago by Northwest Airlines and exceeds an offer by Eastern and TWA.

Quick said balloting also is underway on the offers by Eastern, Northwest and TWA. After scheduling strikes against Eastern and TWA, the union postponed walkouts indefinitely.

The union also is in the midst of contract disputes with National and Northeast airlines.

Meanwhile, a union of flight engineers said it will ask the Civil Aeronautics Board to veto a mutual aid pact by six big airlines for sharing of strike losses.

George B. Petty Jr., president of the Flight Engineers International Assn., denounced the pact as a union busting plan. If it gets CAB approval, he said, airline unions also will have to pool resources during a strike.

The aid pact, announced Sunday, calls for the lines to turn back any net extra profits during a walkout to the airline that was struck. Signing the agreement were American, Eastern, Capital, TWA, United and Pan American.

"We will not stand by and see our unions and years of efforts submerged in an airline profit pool," Petty said. "If we are engaged in a strike with one airline and five others offer that airline economic aid to break our strike then we have no other course but to strike the other five."

Vote Trends To Watch In Key Battles

By The Associated Press

If you're looking for a possible nationwide trend tonight, watch the returns from key election contests in certain early reporting states.

For example, keep an eye on these Senate contests (all seats now Republican, with Democrats given a chance to win):

Connecticut (polls close 7 p.m. EST), New York (7 p.m.), Pennsylvania (8 p.m.), and West Virginia, two seats (7:30 p.m.). Races in Maryland (7 p.m.) and New Jersey (8 p.m.) are rated tossups by the experts.

Other Senate contests in which Democrats could score overturns are in Arizona, California, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota and Nevada.

Two Eastern governorships that could change hands politically are New York and Maryland. Signs indicate New York might go Republican, Maryland Democratic.

Ohio also could switch to the Democrats as well as California, Republican North and South Dakota, particularly the latter, have governorship races running closer than usual.

Party experts say early trends might be noted in House races in the Connecticut 1st and 3rd districts, Delaware's lone contest, Indiana 11th, Kentucky 3rd, New Jersey 1st, and Pennsylvania 6th—all now Republican.

Actress Will Get $150,000 Settlement

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—Actress Wanda Hendrix was divorced Monday from socialite James Slack with a guarantee of $150,000 if she does not remarry. District Judge Grant Bowen granted her the decree which made valid a property settlement signed by the pair last week in Los Angeles. Slack appeared Monday but Miss Hendrix did not. They were married June 26, 1954.

Fraser Is Coldest

NEW YORK (UPI)—The lowest temperature reported in the nation today was 8 degrees at Fraser, Colo., the U.S. Weather Bureau said. Highest Monday was 90 at Thermal, Calif.

Sports Editor Dies

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Fred Digby, 65, "father of the Sugar Bowl," died Monday. The veteran sports writer, editor and columnist was credited with conceiving the idea of the Sugar Bowl football classic.

Justice Stricken

BERN, Switzerland (UPI)—Dr. Markus Feldmann, 61, justice and police minister, died of a heart attack Monday. Feldmann was a former president of the Swiss Journalists Association.

One and a quarter billion dollars' worth of toys is retailed in the United States each year, more than six times as much as 20 years ago.

Harriman, Knowland Facing Boost-Or-Break

By JOHN M. AVERILL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Any remaining White House ambitions of two of the nation's better known political figures reach the boost-or-break stage today as 32 states elect governors.

The two, Democrat Averell Harriman of New York and Republican William F. Knowland of California, have sought their parties' presidential nominations in past years. Both insist they are now seeking only to be governor.

In their current races, both are rated by pollsters and political observers as underdogs—Harriman considerably less so than Knowland.

Rockefeller Favored

In what has come to be dubbed the Battle of the Millionaires, Republican Nelson A. Rockefeller is rated a slight favorite to unseat Harriman.

In California, the Democrats say they are confident that their candidate, Ally Gen. Edmund G. Brown, will trounce Knowland. Polls support that view.

A victory for either Knowland or Harriman automatically would rank him a potent prospect as a presidential candidate. That also would be true of their opponents if they win.

Although this is his first bid for elective office, Rockefeller already is regarded—as a possible contender with Vice President Nixon for the GOP presidential nomination in 1960.

Another gubernatorial race with presidential overtones is in Michigan. Gov. G. Mennen Williams, seeking an unprecedented sixth term, was favored to defeat Republican Paul D. Bagwell. The extent of Williams' expected victory could affect his prospects in the 1960 Democratic National Convention.

Lively races also are in prospect in some other states electing governors today.

In addition to New York, the Republicans contend they have a good chance to oust Democrats from governorships in traditionally Republican Iowa and Kansas and from the onetime GOP stronghold of Oregon.

And the GOP has practically staked claim to little Rhode Island where Republican Christopher Del Sesto is trying again to unseat Democratic Gov. Dennis J. Roberts.

Lost In Court Fight

Del Sesto, after apparently winning two years ago, was edged out by Roberts in a bitter court fight over absentee ballots. The Republicans now are calling for Del Sesto's "re-election."

Another 1956 repeal occurs in Ohio. But this time Democrat Michael V. DiSalle is given an even or better chance of whipping his opponent of two years ago, Republican incumbent C. William O'Neill.

The Democrats also expect to recapture Maryland. Forecasts give a strong edge to Democrat J. Millard Tawes, who built up a political following during his many years as state comptroller. His Republican opponent is Rep. James P. S. Devereux, who commanded the Marine garrison at Wake Island at the outset of World War II.

A fairly close race is predicted in Massachusetts, where Democratic incumbent Foster Furcolo is challenged by Republican Charles Glibbons.

And the same thing is true in Arizona, where Democrat Robert Morrison and Republican Paul Fannin are seeking the seat vacated by Ernest W. McFarland, who is trying to return to the U.S. Senate.

Arizona's neighbor, New Mexico, offers a tossup between GOP incumbent Edwin L. Mechem and Democrat John Burroughs.

In Nevada, a late switch in the trend makes the Democratic challenger, Grant Sawyer, a hairline favorite over Republican Gov. Charles M. Russell.

The Democrats got off to an early start by retaining Maine in that state's Sept. 8 election. Democrat Clinton A. Clauson was

German Under Arrest As Spy For Russians

BERLIN (AP)—West Berlin police said today they have arrested a 38-year-old German, Alexander Fuss, who confessed to spying for Soviet headquarters in East Berlin since 1953. He was arrested Aug. 20 as he stepped out of a plane from West Germany. His arrest was kept secret until today.

the Senate race unless Rockefeller rolls up a Republican tide.

Knowland Seen Ousted
California's feuding Republicans seemed headed for a defeat that would sweep Sen. William F. Knowland, the party's candidate for governor, and Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, its senatorial nominee, out of political life. Knowland nudged Knight out of the governor's race and they have been shooting at each other since.

Democratic State Atty. Gen. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown was given long odds to beat Knowland. Knight was reported trailing Democratic Rep. Clair Engle in the senatorial race.

A loss of both the California governorship and the senatorial seat could set back the ambitions of Vice President Nixon to become the 1960 GOP presidential nominee. The ability of his home base of California to produce a majority for a Republican presidential candidate then would become suspect.

Nixon's political future also could be clouded by a new rival in Rockefeller, if the latter wins.

Court Justices Get Guards As Threat Result

WASHINGTON (UPI)—FBI agents are guarding Supreme Court Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justice Felix Frankfurter as a result of anonymous threats against them, it was disclosed Monday by official sources.

The FBI declined to comment on the threats or to disclose whether an investigation is underway.

The threats reportedly were made a few weeks ago at the time of the bombing of a Jewish temple in Atlanta, Ga.

Looking At India

IT IS QUITE common to find in America an attitude of skepticism toward the democratic professions of the leaders of India. Yet recent developments begin to suggest that in fact it may be the strongest democratic bulwark in the whole of Southeast Asia. In Pakistan, great friend of the West and member of the Baghdad pact, alleged corruption and general mismanagement led to the establishment of martial law and the disbanding of all political parties. The army is in control. The armed forces also have taken over in Thailand, another Western friend which without outside influence had developed the party-cabinet democratic system. The menace of communism was the excuse.

IN BURMA, a neutral with certain Soviet leanings, Premier U Nu has likewise given the army key authority. There the threat was civil war. Tiny Ceylon, plagued by riots stirred by rival groups within the nation, stands in a state of emergency. There is fear the party-cabinet system may produce an intolerable instability. Ceylon's Prime Minister S. W. R. D. Bandaranaike, scanning this Asian scene, was moved recently to speculate that perhaps the party-cabinet system so generally relied upon in the West is not really suitable to Asian life in its present status. He indicated that in almost every case the parties operating under the system were not truly strong enough to sustain it.

INDIA, WITH ITS great ruling Congress under Prime Minister Nehru, he saw as the one big exception. There alone in Asia, he suggested, was there party strength of the order and caliber required to make the Western democratic system work. All this is something for us to remember the next time Congress considers aid to India or discussion flares over India's neutrality on some issue dividing East and West. India has its own course in the world of affairs. It is not always one that we in America like. But there seems to be powerful evidence that it is a democratic course—one that is perhaps rarer than we think in Asia and one we ought to regard with substantial satisfaction.

Same Old Music

EVERY POLITICAL season hope stirs anew that the quality of debate will be higher than the last time. But each election year we learn again the old lesson that it is not better than heretofore. Here and there across the country a candidate appears who chooses to discuss campaign issues and personalities with moderation and intelligence. But most of the campaigners, and this includes, unhappily, many who normally are thought of as moderate and intelligent, sooner or later seem to go off some wild tangent or other in the driving urge to get elected. So many "facts" are thrown at the voters that they can't tell what are the real and significant facts upon which they ought to base a decision. Both sides quote sources which sound official and unimpeachable. Their literature pours out in an avalanche which buries the citizenry. By the time voting day rolls around, the whole thing begins to take on an air of artificiality. Millions of voters wish only for the noise to stop. There must be a better way, but few appear willing to try for it.

Trapping Boom

THOSE WHO contend that statistics are dull stuff, and not fit meat for lively minds, ought to be condemned to read a dozen magazine stories about romance. Statistics, properly approached, are much more entertaining. Consider, for example, the Commerce Department's report that two million Americans are trappers. This, says Commerce, means that one out of every 87 of us does some trapping from time to time. This statistical tidbit provided a stimulating hour; we leaned back and thought of 87 persons at random, trying to imagine each one out on a trap line. Not practical, maybe, but intriguing. As is the notion that there are more trappers now than there were in early times when fur trappers were busy opening up America.

Gen. De Gaulle Both Hope And Dilemma

WASHINGTON — Not the least of a thousand questions faced during World War II by Roosevelt and Churchill was that of dealing with the austere and profoundly difficult Charles de Gaulle.

De Gaulle was the heart of French resistance in the black old days of Nazi occupation. His own frigid honor and patriotism and his immense usefulness against the Germans made it imperative for Washington and London to get along with him.

But his very good qualities also made him a stubborn, proud, highly sensitive associate who caused much wry headshaking among Roosevelt, Churchill and their colleagues. He was the rose; and he was the prickly thorn. And to grasp the one was, usually, to be a bit stung by the other.

THIS ALLIED experience of long ago is being repeated now all over the Western alliance, and markedly so here in Washington. A decade and a half later De Gaulle has again become a great hope and a great dilemma to the rest of the West.

France's capitulation to Germany thrust iron into the soul of every true Frenchman. And the trust of all is Charles de Gaulle.

This columnist, as a war correspondent, entered the Cathedral of Notre Dame at the tail-end of De Gaulle's party when the general marched in there upon the liberation of Paris for the Te Deum, the thanksgiving for deliverance.

The memory will never die of the general's stiff, still face, free of regret or triumph but full of an old suffering that even he could not hide, as he knelt at the consecration of the Host in the ancient cathedral.

NOW, AS THE years have passed, he has washed away much, but not all, of what sensitive Frenchmen felt was a stain upon one of the world's oldest and proudest military traditions. At home, as a fabulously successful Prime Minister, he has already restored France's domestic strength and confidence.

At the moment, as the story comes up to date, he is attempting nothing less than to push France up to the very pinnacle of world power and prestige. He is asking that the 15-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization be overlaid with a super-directorate of only three, the United States, Britain — and France.

This would mean France would demand a voice equivalent to the voices of associates incomparably more powerful — the United States — and very much more powerful — Britain. Too, De Gaulle would presumably attempt to have a hand in decisions of a kind in which not all of NATO put together has thus far attempted to take any such role.

It might even mean, for example, that he would claim the right to participate in what have been this country's own decisions about such matters as Formosa in the Far East.

ALREADY, his proposal has brought an ill-repressed consternation among such other NATO partners as Italy and West Germany. No Italian government, no free German government, could expect to last long after telling its people that it would allow De Gaulle to place France above them.

It has not been easy for the partners to accept the predominance in NATO even of the United States — a predominance at least justified by the harsh reality of our power and made tolerable in our great care not to throw our weight about.

All the same, any flat rejection of De Gaulle's plan would shake NATO to the core. For he is understood to have hinted that without great concessions to France's desire to regain past glory, he will find NATO of ever-decreasing interest. And, finally, all in the West are fully aware of the great contributions he has already made by pulling France together.

NO ONE in the West would wisely deny him any prestige helpful to France so long as the price was not unbearably high to the remainder of the West. (United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

New Food Law Gives More Protection

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — One of the most important but least publicized actions of the last Congress was passage of a new Food and Drug Act amendment just before adjournment.

This Public Law 859 provides that "additives"—chemicals added to food products—must be found safe for human consumption before they can be used.

This closes a gap in the pure food laws which will benefit and protect everyone. But it has taken eight years and extensive hearings in three sessions of Congress to get this law on the books.

The new law goes into effect March 5, 1958. This is 180 days after it was signed by President Eisenhower.

Food additives in use before Jan. 1, 1958 have 18 months in which to be scientifically tested to provide the U.S. Food and Drug Administration with proof the products are safe. If needed, an additional year may be granted for proving safety.

ADDITIVES put on the market after Jan. 1, but before the law was signed Sept. 6, have six months in which their safety must be proved. Additives developed after Sept. 6 cannot be marketed until safety has been proved.

The burden of proof is put on the manufacturer of the additive—not the food processors who use it. In general this means that the big chemical companies will do the work.

This saves the government the tremendous job of running all these scientific tests. They normally require two years. For additives suspected of causing cancer, as much as seven years may be required.

Foods prepared with the additives are fed to laboratory animals over their normal life span. Rats are used principally because they eat the same food as man. After death, the bodies are dissected to study effects.

Scientific data on the tests then must be submitted to Food and Drug Administration for verification and approval or disapproval under a published regulation. It will specify the amount of the additive that may be used, the foods it may be used in and other safety conditions.

CONGRESS didn't have time before adjournment to appropriate money for carrying on the government's part of this program. But a deficiency appropriation of $400,000 will be asked when Congress returns in January.

For the full fiscal year of 1960, a one-million-dollar appropriation will be requested. This will cover the hiring of a staff of some 60 scientists and a few inspectors to do the checking.

No provision has been made for a government seal of approval for food additives found safe. But Food and Drug Administration is authorized to start proceedings against food products containing unsafe additives.

Imported foods containing unsafe additives may be seized by Food and Drug Administration order. For domestic food products, court orders must be obtained.

All of them have long chemical names. One of the early jobs of the food industry is to rename them. Food and Drug Administrator George P. Larrick has proposed an industry committee to agree on appropriate, simplified names—not trade marks—which won't scare the housewives.

CRIMINAL prosecution and conviction of shippers of unsafe food products provide penalties of $1,000 fine and a year's imprisonment on first offense, $10,000 and three years on second offense.

A National Research Council survey has identified nearly 700 proposed food additives. Food and Drug Administration believes about 200 are now in common use. Estimates on how many of them have been scientifically tested and found safe for human consumption are not considered reliable.

The Association of Agricultural Chemists has proudly classified additives as "flavors—the largest group—coloring agents, sweeteners, preservatives, bleaches, emulsifiers to make foods smoother and chemicals that will keep Thus it is that many anxious diplomatic conversations are going on here between Allied and United States representatives. In the end they all center upon a single hope: that somehow Washington can meet De Gaulle, for the good of De Gaulle and of all, with some accommodation that the others in NATO at least can live with.

Whitney Bolton Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — There was a slight note of raillery in this space a few days ago concerning the science of pogonotomology, or shaving.

I mentioned a fellow named Casselman, a distinguished pogonotomist. Also mentioned was Count Rossi, of the wine-making Rossi, who taught me how to shave under water. He wanted no truck with pens that write under water, but he could shave with his face immersed in a tub of hot water and I've been doing it for years.

If you ply your razor right, you can even do it in a shower, but it requires more dexterity.

ANYHOW, from Elbridge J. Casselman, I have dredged some reasonably fascinating items about shaving. One of them is that if you are smart you will get a gold-plated razor, because for some reason a razor blade in a chromium razor frame sets up an electrolytic action when wet and this action tends to dull the blade.

Mr. Casselman is a great man for times. He sees three minutes as the least amount of time you should take for softening the beard in advance by washing your face with soap and hot water. If you are a gaffer with a white beard, you ought to take even longer to prepare. White hair is tougher than black, red, brown or blonde hair. Dry hair is harder than lead, aluminum or annealed copper in, of course, filaments of the same diameter as the beard hair.

THIS SEEMS to indicate that dry shavers, using electric instruments, are in effect using wirecutters. He also believes in shaving with the grain the first time and then a total re-lather followed by shaving against the grain. Cheeks and sideburns first, because they are relatively softer than chin and lip hair, which can take the extra soaking given them while you shave the cheeks.

Hot water is the best of all beard softeners when it is at 115 degrees Fahrenheit. He prefers a shaving brush and soap to brushless tinguents. The brush adds to the softening process by working the water and soap into the beard.

IN PURSUIT of all these masculine tidbits, Casselman came across some oddments. The beard of the Prophet (Mohammed) was fiery red, but phony. He dyed his beard with henna. Diogenes, while out seeking an honest man in the light of his lantern, loved to taunt shaved men by implying they secretly yearned to be women. Socrates, between gusts of philosophy, loved to bet how far a flea could jump from his beard to a friend's.

Primitive man, as we all know, used clam shells as tweezers to pluck out his beard hair by hair, wincing and with streaming eyes. Fighters in the Roman Legion, having found that copper razors caused more scars than clean cheeks and iron razors could not be brought to a keen edge, showed their mettle by scraping their beards off with pumice stones. It worked fine as long as the skin lasted.

THOSE crazy Egyptians, almost totally lacking hair on their faces, went to the trouble of putting on false beards. The man who introduced the daily shave to early Rome was Scipio Africanus. Alexander the Great decreed clean-shaven troops of conquest because beards gave his foes a hand-hold in close combat.

St. Clement of Alexandria denounced the clean-shaven as "rakes and idolaters." But St. Chrysostom said a beard "contributes to a man's beauty as long, waving hair does to a woman's beauty." You take your saint and make your choice.

THE EARLIEST known public barbers, working for a fee, appeared in Greece about 400 B. C. Rome's first came from Sicily about 300 B. C. For centuries the world's most adept barbers were Sicilians and often are to this day. The introduction of Damascus steel was the beginning of a decent razor blade that did not torture the victim. And Samuel Pepys' beard turned white when a friend sailed a hot mince pie into it and then rubbed it in. (McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

New Pants To Scare Fish

EN ROUTE — One of the best half-dressed men ever to invade the tropics, namely, me, is on his way to commune with the friendly fish of the Virgin Islands.

Hilda and I are flying south over turquoise seas (I sound like a travel agent) en route to Puerto Rico, where we'll change planes for St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands and there take a boat to St. John, where those sociable fish will get the first look at my haberdashery.

YOU MAY recall my sorry announcement back in Washington that the moths had got into my old swimming trunks and there wasn't another pair in town to be had. H. Marcus of the Kingswood Sportswear Co. of New York took pity and sent me a fine, modestly-colored suit as a public service. He meant it wouldn't do for me to be nekkid at Caneel Bay.

I also heard from Miss Natalie Bird, who works for a Mr. Jantzen of Portland, Ore., and who said it just happened that she had three beautiful models on their way to the West Coast and that they'd drop by with suitable coverings for my sunburn. They did, too.

MISS BIRD, Miss Helen Connor, a blonde of London; Miss Fay Vittucci, a brunette of Rome, and Miss Simone Dailien-court, a redhead of Paris, flew in with a wardrobe of swimming trunks, running to spools, stripes, and plaids.

These feature a costume so new no other man will have one until next summer; it consists of knitted trunks running down to the knee and striped in circular fashion like a prison suit in red and white. This should startle those fish.

DIRECTOR Conrad Wirth of the National Parks Service just happens to be at St. John, all of which is a national park except for 60 acres carved out by Laurence Rockefeller, who will be our landlord. So I intend to help Wirth install underwater paths—first in the world—so visitors in fancy trunks can stroll on walks about three and a half feet under water for the purpose of observing the trick fish.

We'll mark special points of interest with buoys so the customers can put on their snorkel masks, submerge their faces, and admire the denizens of the deep. Only one thing worries Wirth; these fish are friendly types and he urges the people not to scare 'em. I'll probably have to change pants to qualify.

HILDA AND I intend to spend a couple of weeks, looking at these fish and sitting under palm trees, drinking stuff out of coconut shells, and sailing around the islands. We expect, among other things, to drop over to St. Croix, about 40 miles from St. John, where Ford Bond (remember that name? the celebrated radio speller) is general manager of the only hotel in the world without rooms for rent. His estate, Good Hope Hotel, has suites, only.

He says this is the life for a broadcaster, who was on the verge of ulcers in New York. We'll have lunch with him, in any event, and let you know whether he still sounds as we remember him.

IN SAN JUAN Hilda hopes to buy her carpeping; at least, we'll look over the Puerto Rican carpet factories, where the folks tie each knot by hand.

This, obviously, will be a vacation for the Othmans and we intend to look leathery when we return. I'll be out of the paper for two weeks, but on Nov. 17 I'll be back with a firsthand report on how those fish withstand the shock. (United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

MADRID—Nearly everybody at home assured me it was going to be an uneventful election, although Billy Knowland might not be obsessed with its tranquility, so I said to the mysterious beauty whom I first encountered in the Resistance: "There is no profit in withering here in the news drought. Leave us go to Spain and see if it is true that the rain stays mainly in the plain."

Perhaps I should explain that the Resistance to which I have allusion was all on her part. From force of habit she began resisting now. But she is vulnerable to the lure of far-off places and I have found a way to take advantage of it. She gets itchy feet, and I refuse to scratch them.

She was still protesting feebly that any one who quit the country at the height of an election campaign should be forced to turn in his political pundit's badge when we took off from Idlewild in an Iberia Air Lines flying banquet hall.

WE HAVE EATEN the dishes of many nations in flights across the Atlantic, but nothing to compare with these Spanish specialties. We were wine and dined in the sky as never on earth. I don't know how they got so many kinds of seafood up there, but they served a paella which had nearly everything from the ocean in it except Moby Dick.

They poured so many beautifully different sherries that I became almost affable. Incidentally we were later to visit the place from which sherry derived its name. It is Jerez, in the South of Spain, and that's what the Spaniards call the wine too. But the language-resistant English corrupted it to "sherry." That's about the only piece of travel guide stuff I'm going to inflict on you, so cheer up.

The Mysterious Beauty of whom I spoke has a Spanish background, although not as large as some, but when the Spanish immigration inspector scrutinized her passport and noted her first name was spelled "Ymelda," he shook his head in a stricken way and declared he had never seen a name that approximated it in any language.

I tried to console him by saying that it had unstrung immigration officials all over the world, including New York, but he just muttered that he was glad it was nearly time for his siesta.

Madrid is wonderful any time of the year, but I like Autumn best. It is enough to make an auto magnate extol the pleasures of walking.

For my first stroll I headed straight for the Retiro, the lovely park plunk in the middle of the historical old city. Our park people might borrow an idea from the Retiro. All around it are little grottoes containing, not woodland sprites, but caches of public library books.

Anyone can borrow a library book, provided he sits and reads it in the immediate vicinity. There is the danger inherent in this that the people may become too widely read, but it seems to be a calculated risk that General Franco is taking.

EVERYONE knows the Spaniards are the only major holdouts against the modern speed-up mania, but on this visit they struck me as being slower than ever. I was in Spain nearly twenty minutes before anyone confided that Franco might restore the monarchy any minute. It used to be that this was the first thing you heard; also the last, and in-between. You'd have thought a Hapsburg or Bourbon was in the wings waiting for the "Henerallissimo" to hit the run-on music.

Franco keeps holding out the restoration of the monarchy the way he holds out the restoration of the GOP. It is his standby topic of conversation. If I were a pretender to the throne, I'd rather have an old age pension.

There's a noticeable difference, however, between Spain and other totalitarian countries. Spaniards may criticize Franco with impunity. They can—and many do—denounce him at the top of their lungs without danger of getting more than an argument in return.

Franco seems to be employing the same safety valve as the bobbies in London's Hyde Park: "Let 'em say anything they like; as long as they don't do anything." (King Feature, Inc.)

Newsboy Returns Money To Owner

A West Side family benefited several days ago from the honesty

223 Carroll Street. He is a carrier for the Evening and Sunday Times in the 500-600 block section of Fayette Street.
A younger boy, living on Fayette and cautioned him to be careful with the cash.

Shortly after the youth left the store, young Manthey came in seeking the owner of $17 in bills that the money probably belong-young Manthey took the money

Forgetfulness After Parties Said Amnesia

'Victim' Apparently Doesn't Care To Be Part Of Going-On

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor
NEW YORK (UPI)—All persons concerned about their inability to remember what happened at all cocktail parties (and they must number a majority of persons who go to them), can put their worries at rest on the word of a scientific authority on the odd ins and outs of human behavior.
It's not simple forgetfulness, he agreed, but pure amnesia which is a complete loss of memory.
Rather than meaning a mental cog has slipped out of place, however, it most likely means the amnesia "victim" doesn't care to be aware of or to associate himself with cocktail party goings-on.
Dr. Chandler Washburne of the University of Florida, Gainesville, was arguing that pure amnesia (although not amnesia due to any illness), is common among people whether they've had one drink, a number of drinks, or no drinks at all.

Based On Awareness
The ability to remember, he said, is based first of all on awareness—a awareness of one's self in relation to people and circumstances. Awareness depends upon two things: One is to feel associated with the people, and the circumstances and the other is to pay attention to them.

His views struck at a critical point in scientific efforts to understand all the things intoxicating drink do to people. Amnesia is so common among people who drink (if only a little) that many scientists feel alcohol makes spectacular changes in both the psychological and physical workings of the mind.

Washburne reasoned that no person can remember something of which he was not aware, even if it happened under his nose.
And he can't be aware of anything unless he pays attention to it and unless he also feels associated with it, for one reason or another. Unawareness with in-attention and disassociation goes on all the time among the soberest.

Since alcohol depresses body activities, Washburne reasoned it must depress the hidden "drives and motivations" of people as well. A theory held by some scientists as well as most laymen is that people do things while intoxicated they'd never do while sober because the mind's suppressing control over these drives and motivations is "dissolved by alcohol."

He thought it much more likely that alcohol decreases the drinker's awareness of himself and his association of himself with circumstances and people. What happens is not that he stops
"censoring" himself but he stops
"monitoring" himself. Amnesia results from this lack of attention and that is the meaning of alcoholic memory loss. Rather than the drinker having disgraced himself so horribly, amnesia protects him from the memory of it.
"Intoxicated people not only do uninhibited or self-forbidden things, but also just plain stupid or unforethought things," he said in the technical journal of the Yale University center of studies on alcohol. "The trained user of alcohol may want his awareness to be reduced, and after a drink or two he can allow the whole awareness system to crumble."

cluded these highlights:
The Republican National Com-

Auto Insurance Law Court Suit Begins

BALTIMORE (AP)—Opponents of Maryland's new auto insurance law have started their court test of its constitutionality.
Target of the attack is the Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund Law. It is intended to give an insured driver some protection against damages caused by a driver who hasn't got sufficient insurance and can't foot the bill for an accident.
Opponents launched their arguments against the act yesterday in Circuit Court.
Lawyers for two insurance companies, four representative auto owners and truck fleet owners argued that assessments on insurers tantamount to taking property without due process of law. It amounts to discrimination and unequal protection of law, said J.
Cookman Boyd Jr. and Henry M.
Decker Jr.
The attorneys for the plaintiffs also contended insurance companies should not be forced to investigate and defend against claims.

Economy In Lebanon Healthy Despite Strife

By WILTON WYNN

BEIRUT (AP)—The fact that Lebanon's economy did not collapse completely during its five months of civil strife is virtually a financial miracle.

During the period of strikes and terrorism, economic activity was paralyzed in this normally prosperous little republic.

But the Lebanese pound remained one of the firmest currencies.

Premier Rashid Karami announced last week his government has accepted in principle an offer of U.S. financial aid to offset losses incurred during the trouble. The Lebanese are urgently seeking capital to repair the damage caused by the rebellion.

Exactly how much the summer's trouble cost is hard to measure in dollars and cents. Beirut bankers conservatively estimate the loss at 300 million Lebanese pounds—100 million dollars.

For a country with a population of a million and a quarter, such a loss is enormous.

Poor in natural resources, this country has achieved prosperity through banking, trade, and tourism. Its westernized, free-enterprise economy has built up an atmosphere of security and confidence which attracted capital from all over the world.

This international confidence in Lebanon was shaken by this summer's events, and it may take years to restore that confidence.

The crisis resulted in an unprecedented flight of capital. Bankers estimate that 250 million Lebanese pounds were taken out of Beirut banks and sent to safer places in Europe.

Tourist trade suffered a heavy blow. Hotels estimate that only five per cent of the normal number of tourists came in this summer.

Local businessmen face a severe problem in getting necessary capital to resume normal operations. Most local industries and businesses maintained their payrolls through the crisis. At the end of five months, their reserves of capital have been exhausted. Unless they can get easy credit, many will have to close down.

Local banks don't have enough capital to supply this credit. Neither does the government.

Herbert Hoover To Be Honored

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Institute of Social Sciences announced Sunday that former President Herbert Hoover will be the first person in 59 years to receive for a second time its gold medal for service to humanity.

Doctor's Combination of Ingredients Stops Stomach Gas Before It Starts

Buffalo, N.Y. (Special)—Thousands of people who suffered for years from gassy stomach, heartburn, belching after meals and other symptoms of acid indigestion now report wonderful relief, thanks to a remarkable formula developed by a prominent doctor and known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Containing not just one or two, but a special combination of 7 ingredients, this famous medicine is designed to stop stomach gas before it even starts.

Instead of upsetting the delicate acid-balance of the stomach, as too frequent use of soda and alkalis often does, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery actually promotes more normal stomach activity.

Take regularly. It tones up your digestive system and helps you avoid gas, pains, heartburn and sour stomach. Once your stomach is working properly, you can eat what you like without fear of distress.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has helped so many people that over 38 million bottles have been sold. Get it at your druggist's today in liquid or tablet form. Your money back if not entirely satisfied.

William Jennings Bryan, who was a candidate at the age of 20, was the youngest man ever to be nominated for the presidency. (death of a friend)

Enrollment Shows Hike

OAKLAND—Garrett School enrollment moves up slightly from year to year. The present enrollment of 4,788 shows an increase of 270, or six per cent over the enrollment of 1953. This is the smallest school population growth in the state other than Allegany County, where the growth over the last five years shows an increase of only 0.8 per cent. However, the 2.1 per cent increase over last year is as large or larger than that shown in six other counties of the state.

Factory contributing to school population trends in the county as listed by Willard L. Hawkins, county superintendent of schools, are:

1. Persistence to graduation of a larger percentage of pupils.
2. Better educational facilities and program for all.
3. Some improvement in the economic stability of the county—recreational development, home and road building being important factors.
4. Greater uncertainty of job placement in other localities.

The most noticeable school population growth in the county is found in the Red House, Oakland, Grantsville, Route 40 School areas. A slight decline is found in the Friendsville, Kitzmiller, Billinger, North Glade areas, Hawkins said.

Philippines' Politicians Cater To Women

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — Poli-

ed States, says the islands' only lady senator.

Mrs. Pacita Madrigal Gonzalez says that in her homeland women make up 52 per cent of the total registered vote, and they make for some of the most ardent party workers at the local, district and national level.

"Very definitely, our women can swing any election," she said.

"Magsaysay (the late president) gave full credit to the women for putting him in."

Mrs. Gonzalez is the first woman the Philippines has sent to the United Nations General Assembly. From New York, she continues to Paris for the seventh general conference of UNESCO.

Any party would count this politician an asset. She's young, 41, she's smart — she attended a list of schools that long and graduated magna cum laude from the University of Santo Tomas. And she's pretty — small, with an excellent figure, good legs, and chic clothes.

Mrs. Gonzalez moved into politics when Ramon Magsaysay was running for the presidency. "Politics had been another world to me," she said, although her father had been a senator, representing the Liberal Party. She's a Nationalista.

"I was more interested in ballet," said Mrs. Gonzalez. But at Magsaysay's urging, she headed up the women's division of his campaign and after his election, was named to the cabinet, as social welfare administrator.

"In 1955, she decided to run for the Senate and stumped the country like any other politician. "But no kissing babies," she laughed. "I save that for home." There are two children in the family, a 12-year-old son from her marriage to the late Herman Warns, and a 15-month-old daughter, by her husband, Gonzalo, an attorney.

Mrs. Gonzalez topped the party slate with a whopping margin of

Baptist Ministers Slap At Segregation, Racial Prejudice

BALTIMORE (AP)—A group of membership of their churches and Baltimore Baptist ministers has spoken out against public segregation and racial prejudice.

They suggested the best way to oppose such practices is through a rallying of spiritual and moral forces.

A statement of policy called "Human Equality, the Biblical Ideal," was issued by the Baltimore Baptist Pastors Conference.

There are some 60 pastors in the conference, which is a part of the Maryland Baptist Union Assn.

A spokesman said a majority of the pastors approved of the statement, which said the policy suggested "is not binding upon the cluded that government alone can suggest Christian statesmen and consciences of their people" to find out work out the problems. They church leaders should "arouse the solutions to racial prejudice.

20 Per Cent Vote Cast Before Noon

Allegheny County voters had cast an approximate 20 per cent vote by noon today, a slightly heavier turnout than usual for that time of day when county offices are at stake.

Perfect weather was a major factor as a heavy afternoon ballot was expected to meet the forecast of a 60 to 65 per cent turnout by the time polls close at 7 p. m.

Elsewhere in the state, it was the same story. Hagerstown reported a "surprisingly heavy" vote and in Montgomery and Prince Georges' counties, long lines formed in the first hour. Voting was slow in Montgomery because of a full county slate in addition to state and congressional contests. Wisconsin County also reported a heavy vote.

Light In Lonaconing
A big turnout usually has worked to the advantage of Republicans in heavily Democratic Maryland.

Until noon, 21 precincts with a total registration of 18,160 reported 3,478 had voted in this county. There was nothing unusual reported by poll workers but some commented on the light turnout in Lonaconing where two polling places with a registration of 2,453 reported a vote of 326. The number of voters was picking up between the hours of 11 a. m. and noon, however.

Allegheny County observers had predicted a 60 to 65 per cent turnout or between 24,000 and 26,000 of the 37,323 eligible voters. Four years ago when county offices were at stake, 28,141 voted while in the presidential election two years ago there were 31,470.

Get Out Vote Drives
Members of both major parties and organized labor were conducting get out the vote campaigns. The AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education (COPE) had 10 cars available to haul voters to the polls and for assignment to areas in the county where requested. Four other cars were in operation in the Oakland-Kilmiller area and the COPE was concentrating efforts in South End locally.

Nine local and suburban precincts checked with a registration of 9,609 reported a vote of 1,815; in the Westport-Lake area, six precincts with a registration of 4,735 reported a vote of 827; and in Frostburg six precincts with a registration of 3,816 had a vote of 836.

The union has kept maintenance men on duty to care for the equipment of the local plant, which is the most modern of its kind in the nation. There is also a curtailed office force on duty along with supervisory employees.

Health Board Conducts First Session Here
Cumberland's Board of Health held its first session yesterday. Problems discussed included vacant dwellings on the site of the city's third housing project, parking of Health Department vehicles, fire hazards in the schools, operation of the city dump, and the condemnation of property which has become a health problem.

Attending the meeting in City Hall were Mayor J. Edwin Keech, Dr. Ralph Ballin and City Engineer C. R. Muzum, members, City Attorney William R. Carscaden, Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder, Fire Chief Virgil Parker and J. B. Dowling, Health Department sanitarian.

The board was told that the Housing Authority of the City of Cumberland will soon begin removing a number of dwellings on the site of the city's third public housing project on Oldtown Road. Officials reported that nine dwellings in the area which were purchased by the State Roads Commission have already been removed.

Dowling reported the remaining 14 houses are a fire hazard and that dumping of garbage has turned them into a health hazard.

Also discussed was parking space for Health Department vehicles under the parking regulations which the city will put into effect on November 15. Efforts will be made to find a space for the vehicles, it was reported.

The board heard that the Fire Department has found a number of fire hazards, chiefly in wiring and constructions, in schools here.

The County Health Department and the City Engineering Department were asked to work with the Board of Education and the County Commissioners toward the elimination of the conditions.

The board was told the City of Cumberland is about ready to adopt an ordinance setting forth rules for the operation of the city dump which will be filled up under present conditions in less than a decade.

Plans were also discussed for correction, by repair or razing, of property which has become a health hazard.

Stolen Car Found On Martins Mountain
A car owned by Warran C. Ault which was stolen from Decatur Street was found abandoned on Martins Mountain late Saturday night by State Police.

Ault lives in Flintstone and the car was found before the theft had been reported. Trooper John Switzer found the car on U. S. Route 40 near the intersection with Breakneck Road. The radiator had been damaged.

Credit Union To Meet
The regular meeting of the Allegheny County Teachers Federal Credit Union will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in the Board of Education office, Washington Street.

Florists Request Parking Relief
Three local florists today asked the Police Department to remove red lines and install yellow lines in front of their business establishments.

Spokesman for the group before the Mayor and Council was Edward Habeeb, North Mechanic Street. He stressed the perishable qualities of flowers when carried long distances in inclement weather, effect on business by lack of customer parking space and additional cost of deliveries as the result of late orders which would not occur if a customer could stop at the florist's place of business.

Commissioner Philmore Fleming had scheduled a meeting with the group and it is expected some solution will be worked out, it was said.

3-Year Pact Signed For Oakland Firm
Contract Provides Wage Increases And Other Benefits

A new three-year contract has been agreed upon by the Sanders Motor Freight Company, Inc., of Oakland, and Local 453, Teamsters' Union, according to C. E. Stutzman, union business agent.

Stutzman said the contract provides for 11 cents an hour increase for the first year, 13 cents an hour the second year and 14 cents an hour the third year. The wage increase is retroactive to September 1, the date the pact starts.

Also provided is payment of $9.84 per month per man into the pension plan for the workers. The company maintains its own hospitalization program which is comparable to the one in effect with other trucking firms and the union, Stutzman said.

The vacation clause will provide for one week's vacation after one year's service, two weeks after three years, three weeks after 12 years and four weeks after 20 years.

Stutzman said that road drivers for the Sanders firm will receive nine cents per mile this year, nine and one-fourth cents per mile next year and nine and one-half cents per mile the third year.

The average wage for the Sanders drivers and warehousemen is $2 per hour for the first year of the contract, Stutzman said.

Parents Urged To Tell Truth To Children
"Parents should not lie to their children," stated Arch O. Dart in his third lecture in a series on the home in the Seventh-day Adventist Church last evening.

In his opening remarks, he reminded that parents deliberately lie to their children by not being truthful to them when they ask questions on origins of life. He emphasized that each time a child asks a question that it should be answered truthfully and in as simple language as can be employed.

Dart made clear "that no wise parent will allow their children to spend the night away from home with their teenage friends."

Dart said that children develop attitudes through the five senses and that they learn from example rather than by word and the good example of the mother and father in the home is the deciding factor in the attitudes that children form.

Dart is assistant secretary of the Educational Department of the General Conference of Seventh-day Adventists in Washington, D. C. He will present two more lectures on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 4 and 5 at 7:30 p. m.

Rainfall In October Low
A deficit in the amount of rainfall in October compared to the average was revealed in figures compiled here by the Geological Survey office on the flow of the Potomac River.

Total precipitation in Cumberland was 1.01 inches, which is 1.52 inches below the October average. The flow of the Potomac was 32.9 per cent of the 29-year October average and of this, 38.3 per cent of the flow was from Savage River Dam.

The observed mean daily flow of the river here in October was 183 cubic feet per second or 125 million gallons daily. The daily flow varied from 98.2 million gallons on October 12 and 17 to 171 million gallons on October 15.

The average daily temperature here in October was 54.6 degrees, which is normal for the month.

Fire Started In Mail Box On Centre Street
City Police and postal authorities today were investigating a fire which started in a mail box last night.

Police said they received a call at 11 p. m. that the mail box at the corner of Centre and Valley streets was on fire.

A spokesman for the Post Office said today there were approximately 25 letters damaged in the fire, believed to have been started by vandals.

Fourteen of the letters were forwarded with a note explaining why the letter was damaged. The other letters are being held and will be returned to their senders.

The postal authorities said this is the first time this type of crime has been committed in Cumberland for a number of years.

The case is being investigated by the Postal Inspection Service.

Senate Fight Holds Center Of Election
About 65 Per Cent Of Eligibles To Cast State Ballots

BALTIMORE (AP)—A dramatic contest for a Senate seat and a gubernatorial fight expected to produce a Democratic victory commanded the attention of Maryland voters today.

Clear weather forecasts bolstered the predictions of election officials that about 65 per cent of the eligible 1,200,000 voters would visit the state's 1,340 polling places.

By the 7 p. m. closing time of the voting booths, the electorate will have decided whether Republican J. Glenn Beall gets six more years in the Senate or whether he will be replaced by Democrat Thomas D'Alesandro, mayor of Baltimore.

Close Race Seen
D'Alesandro, whose current City Hall term is his third and runs until next April, went into the senatorial race with a string of 23 election victories. They include campaigns for city council, the Legislature and congress.

So close and so important was the race regarded that President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon made speeches two weeks apart in the Baltimore area to jack up the Republican cause. Former President Harry S. Truman exerted himself on behalf of D'Alesandro and his running mates.

Not so close, even in the eyes of some Republican leaders, but more important to local politicians because of the job appointments which will result, was the governorship fight between Democrat J. Millard Tawes and James P. S. Devereux.

Tawes, State comptroller for two eight-year stretches, was favored to succeed Republican Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, who is ineligible for a third straight term. Unlike McKeldin in 1950 and 1954, Devereux had no appreciable public support from Democrats, who hold an 8-3 margin over Republicans on the voter registration lists.

Telegram Sent
In an unusual eleven-hour exchange of statements, Devereux expressed disappointment in reports that Vice President Nixon told newsmen Devereux was among his party's "most vulnerable" candidates for governor.

Devereux headquarters later said Nixon had sent a telegram saying his appraisal had referred to Maryland as one of three States "where Republicans were having the hardest fight."

"The closer the fight, the better Jim Devereux' chances," Nixon was quoted. "He is a born fighter. He proved it on Wake Island."

Devereux, finishing his fourth term in the House, commanded the Marine defense of Wake Island in World War II.

The absence from the ballot of the two top Republican vote-getters in Maryland history, Eisenhower and McKeldin, contributed to forecasts of Democratic gains in the State's congressional delegation.

The Second District, fanning from Baltimore and until now represented by Devereux, was tabbed as most likely to produce a change in party representation. Democrat Daniel B. Brewster, a two-term State legislator and 34-year-old Marine veteran with seven Purple Hearts, was opposed there by J. Eric Symington Jr., a first-time political starter. Symington is a former Democratic Sen. and a cousin of the Democratic Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri.

Hide In Fight
In the remaining six districts, where four Democratic and two Republican incumbents sought reelection, "Republican Dewitt S. Hyde appeared to have the stiffest fight. His opponent in the Sixth (Western Maryland) District was John R. Foley, Washington labor lawyer who made a strong showing in the 1956 race.

Also on the ballot were contests for attorney general, State comptroller, the Legislature and various county offices.

The polls opened 6 a. m. (EST) in Baltimore, 7 a. m. in the rest of the state.

Congressional candidates also included:

First District—Edward T. Miller, Republican incumbent, and Democrat Thomas F. Johnson.

Third District—Republican Harry Kemper and Edward A. Gar-matz, Democratic incumbent.

Fourth District—Republican Louis W. Collier, and George H. Fallon, Democratic incumbent.

Fifth District—Robert B. Ennis, Republican, and Richard E. Lankford, Democratic incumbent.

Sixth District—Miss Elizabeth P. Brown and Samuel N. Friedel, Democratic incumbent.

The opponents for comptroller were Democrat Louis L. Goldstein, retiring as president of the State Senate, and John A. Derr, former Republican mayor of Frederick.

One Major Judgeship
Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert, Democrat, was opposed for reelection by Republican Robert A. Wallace, former Montgomery County member of the House of Delegates.

In the only major judgeship contest, Montgomery Countians voted on whether Republican Circuit Judge John R. Reeves, a McKeldin appointee, should be given a full 15-year term or be replaced.

Wheel Drops Off Patrol Car
A City Police officer was dispatched to the scene of a reported crime last night, but failed to reach his destination.

The officer was patrolling the downtown area when he was radioed to report on the West Side where a breaking and entering had occurred.

The officer headed for the scene immediately, but as he crossed the Baltimore Street Bridge the right front wheel of his cruiser fell off.

Another car was dispatched, and the first patrol car was towed away.

Action On Curfew Delayed By Romney Mayor, Council
The Mayor and Council of Romney, W. Va., last night delayed action on a proposed curfew ordinance for teenagers.

Mayor David Shear and members of the Town Council met with a group of parents from Romney to discuss plans for the ordinance.

Several of the fathers voiced opinions on the proposed law, some in favor and some opposed. One group of fathers suggested an ordinance for only the delinquent juveniles in the town.

Last night's meeting was an outgrowth of a well organized teenager gang being rounded up by West Virginia authorities last month in October.

The gang, according to West Virginia State Police, had operated in the Romney area for some time and was well organized with all the markings of turning into a serious gang of criminals.

After the group of youths was apprehended, State Police said they even found a list of places to be raided in the future. At the time of arrest, West Virginia authorities said it was high time the Romney Town Council instituted a curfew ordinance with "teeth in it" to help curb the juvenile problem.

Mayor Shear said last night the gang is scheduled to be tried on November 6 in Hampshire County Circuit Court, and he felt the council should wait until after the hearings before passing a curfew ordinance.

Coaches Stick With Iowa, LSU Leads AP Poll

Undeclared Tigers Rate As No. 2 In UPI Voting

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—The Iowa Hawkeyes retained a slender grip on first place today in the United Press International major college football poll, while the undeclared-united Louisiana State Tigers pounced into the runnerup spot.

Defeat suffered Saturday by several of last week's highly-ranked teams enabled Northwestern and Notre Dame to climb back into the top 10 and produced several position changes among those that remained in the select group. Mississippi, shut out by Louisiana State in their "meeting of the unbeaten," and Pittsburgh, upset by Syracuse, dropped out of the top 10.

Early Christmas Present
Iowa, which collected one of its Christmas presents early when it defeated Michigan for the first time in 34 years, received 13 first-place votes and a total of 305 points from the 35 leading coaches who rate the teams.

Louisiana State, bracketed with Rutgers as the nation's only undefeated-united major college teams, advanced from fifth to second with 299 points. The Tigers received 17 first-place votes, four more than Iowa, but the Big Ten team remained first because it received 15 second-place votes to the Southern team's three.

Each coach selects 10 teams in the order he rates them nationally. Points are awarded on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first through 10th place. Iowa thus led Louisiana State by nine last week.

Army Slips
Army slipped from second to third with three first-place votes and 250 points. Auburn was next with a first-place vote and 166 points and Oklahoma was close behind in fifth place with the other first-place vote and 185 points.

Northwestern, 181 points; Wisconsin, 153; Purdue, 133; Ohio State, 36; and Notre Dame, 34, rounded out the top 10.

Mississippi dropped from 6th to 11th with 31 points. Syracuse, Texas Christian, Air Force A&M, Rice, North Carolina, Southern Methodist, Clemson and Georgia Tech followed in that order.

Colorado, knocked out of the unbeaten-united ranks by Oklahoma, was tied for 20th with Texas A&M, Oregon State, Pittsburgh and Virginia Military.

Unitas Out, Ribs Broken
BALTIMORE (AP)—Johnny Unitas, Baltimore Colts quarterback, will miss the next four or five games because of fractured ribs, Colts General Manager Don Kellert announced today.

The Colts' leading aerial strategist was just two games shy of the record of 23 consecutive games set by Cecil Isbell while he played for the Green Bay Packers.

Unitas and halfback L. G. Dupre were injured during last Sunday's rain-soaked 56-0 win over the Packers here. Dupre will be out of action for at least one week, and possibly two, with a dislocated shoulder.

Kellert said Unitas was suffering from pneumothorax due to fractured ribs, meaning he has air in the chest cavity.

Coach Weeb Ewbank said earlier he would use George Shaw if Unitas was unable to play against the New York Giants Sunday.

First Wife Sues A. J. Boyle Estate
CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (AP)—A court suit to get something of the nearly five million dollar estate left by Albert J. Boyle has been filed by his first wife.

Boyle, who owned the three-quarter mile race track here, left nothing to Louise M. Boyle. Through her Baltimore attorney John H. Norris she filed suit in Jefferson County Circuit Court yesterday to nullify the divorce and pave the way for a share in the $4,879,533 estate.

The suit was filed against Helen Weyman Boyle, his second wife who was killed practically everything. His four children got only $1.

Soph Mayo Puts Air In Air Academy

By JIM HARPSTER
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Ask any football fan in this sky-high city who put the "air" in Air Force Academy and they'll tell you Rich Mayo.

He's the sophomore sensation whose passing arm has helped mark the Falcons as the Cinderella team of the nation.

But not until last weekend against Oklahoma State did the 5-foot-11, 170-pounder from Bureka, Calif., stamp himself the prince charming of the gritty squad now unbeaten in six games.

Mayo completed 28 of 45 passes against the Oklahoms, among them 16 completions in 23 fourth-quarter attempts. His 13-yard strike to end Bob Brickey gave the Falcons a 33-29 triumph in the final nine seconds.

Coach Ben Martin said game movies showed that Mayo's receivers dropped five aerials that should have been caught. Compliments on those attempts would have given him a remarkable 83-of-145 performance for the game.

As it was, he accounted for 214 yards.

"It was by far the greatest example of collegiate passing I've ever seen," said Martin, in his first year as Falcon coach. He succeeded Buck Shaw, who moved up as coach of the professional Philadelphia Eagles.

For the season, the California youngster has 58 completions in 100 attempts for 608 yards and seven touchdowns. Only once has an opponent intercepted a Mayo pass. That was on his 74th attempt, against Oklahoma State.

Mayo also is the team's leading punter, with a 38-yard average.

Ohio State Not To See Purdue's Hula-Dance Girl

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI)—It was a sad day at Ohio State University today.

Adelaide Jeanne Darling, Purdue University's "golden girl" drum majorette, whose "singing hips" have frosted many a male's binoculars, has been lopped off the traveling squad for Saturday's Purdue-Buckeye game at Ohio State.

Al Wright, director of the Purdue band, said Monday Adelaide can't go with the 41-member band, simply because she is a girl.

Wright insisted he wasn't cutting Adelaide because her hula dance has kept the men warm in half-time programs, nor because her wiggles have left her female audience largely cold.

"We only take the full band of 275 players on two away-from-home games a season," Wright said. "We take the pep band on two other trips, but we never take women along on the pep band trips."

Ohio State, Colorado Is Dropped Out Of Top Ten

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Louisiana State, Iowa and Army held their places on top of the weekly Associated Press football ranking poll today, but after that it was a case of anything — and anyone — goes.

Ohio State and Colorado went clear out of the top 10 after last Saturday's licks. Auburn, barely victorious, went down a notch to make room for astounding Northwestern, Mississippi, after losing for the first time, dropped three places.

LSU Has Slender Lead
LSU, one of two unbeaten and untied major college teams, maintained its slender lead over undefeated Iowa in the balloting of 165 sports writers and broadcasters by a margin of 1,443 points to 1,379.

The Tigers from Louisiana drew 82 first-place votes and Iowa's Hawkeyes 54.

Army, the leader two weeks ago before it was tied by Pittsburgh, was named first on only seven ballots, but piled up 1,105 points for third place.

Points are counted on the basis of 10 for each first-place vote, 9 for second, etc.

To reflect three places continued to reflect the results, LSU conquered Mississippi 14-0 in their struggle for the Southeastern Conference lead. Iowa routed Michigan 37-14 and Army ran over helpless Colgate 68-6.

Wildcats Fourth
An even sharper reflection of results gave Northwestern fourth place by a bare three points over Auburn. Northwestern's Wildcats, who had dropped out of the top 10 after losing to Iowa, beat Ohio State for the first time in 10 years, 21-0. Auburn just scratched out a 5-5 decision over Florida.

Ohio State, rated fifth a week ago, dropped clear to 16th after its defeat. Mississippi dropped from sixth to ninth after losing to the leaders, Colorado, a 23-7 victim of Oklahoma, fell from ninth in the rankings clear out of sight.

As a result Oklahoma, Wisconsin, Purdue, Mississippi and the unbeaten Air Force Academy team filled the last five places in the top 10.

Field Of 123 For Carling

ATLANTA (UPI)—The $25,000 sixth annual Carling Open golf tournament gets underway Wednesday with a field of 123, including some of the nation's top pros, geared for a 72-hole battle over the tough Cherokee Town and Country Club course.

The Cherokee, just completed last fall, is a 7,004-yard, par-72 course abounding with natural and man-made obstacles. The golfers will play 18-hole rounds Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sunday, taking Saturday off to attend the Georgia Tech-Clemson football game here.

Only a small handful of prominent pros will miss this tournament which has a first prize of $3,500 and an added bonus of $5,000 more if the winner is a former Carling champion.

The most notable absentees are Sammy Snead, Ben Hogan, Ken Venturi and Cary Middlecoff.

Owners To Study Minors' Problems

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Baseball owners from coast to coast meet here Wednesday and Thursday to explore plans for realigning the minor leagues.

Proposals will be made for shifting franchises, expanding existing leagues and creating new ones. It will all be done in an effort to save minor league baseball from running into more financial troubles.

There will be a lot of talk, and a lot of jockeying. Just what changes will be made — if any — is another matter. "Alignment is due and feasible, but I'm doubtful whether any such action can be brought to finality," one delegate confided.

"What makes it so tough is that it involves money — both yours and the other club owners."

Seven leagues will be represented — the Pacific Coast, American Association, International, Southern, Texas, Western and South Atlantic.

Batter Out On Ball Hit Over Fence

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—A baseball manager kicked his own player out of a game. A batter doubled into a double play. A ball game was postponed because of elephants. A batter hit one over the fence, circled the bases twice and was called "out."

These are only a few of the anecdotes and oddities that took place in the major and minor leagues in 1936.

Took Pitches Deliberately
Let's look at some of them in detail:

Milt Smith of Toronto disputed a strike call, then let two more strikes go past him without swinging. Manager Dixie Walker took Smith out of the game and later fined him $50. "Smith took those pitches deliberately," said Walker.

Elmo Plaskett of Las Vegas of the California League slammed a pitch over the fence. But after crossing the plate he realized he had failed to touch first base. Starting from the plate again, Plaskett made another tour of the sacks. He was ruled out because he should have retraced his steps in reverse order, going to third, second, first etc. under rule 7.02.

Doubles Into Double Play
With Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phils on second and Chico Fernandez on first, Chuck Essegian hit a long drive to center that went off Cincinnati outfielder Gus Bell's glove. Ashburn, thinking the ball would be caught, held up and found Fernandez on his heels when he rounded third. The Redlegs' subsequently threw Ashburn out at home and trapped and finally tagged Fernandez between third and home. Essegian was credited with a double.

Player of the South End Jets and South End Maple Leafs arrived at the Peterborough, Ont., field all set to play a semipro game. To their dismay they found a herd of elephants prowling the playing field. Upon investigation they learned that a circus was performing nearby and the elephants were using the baseball field between shows.

What athletic greats of the past would you like to see join Lefty Grove, Jimmy Foss, Home Run Baker, the late Babe Ruth and others in the Maryland Hall of Fame?

The M Club of the University of Maryland instituted the Hall of Fame in 1935 and is inviting sports fans in the Free State to vote for their favorite stars. They are Tommy Mont, the former Allegany High all-around athlete who went on to become one of the University of Maryland's all-time football greats and is now the Terps' head coach; and Mrs. Lenore Knight Wingard, a native of Frostburg. Mrs. Wingard became one of the world's greatest swimmers at the age of 20, setting two international records in 1933. Now a resident of Cincinnati, she is the mother of a son and daughter.

High on baseball's eligible list are such names as Charley Keller, Bill Werber, Bill Nicholson, Dick Porter, Jack Bentley, Eddie Rommel, Louis (Bozzy) Berger, Tom Kibler and Al Kaline.

Ted, Stan March On

Ted Williams and Stan Musial made rapid strides toward two more batting milestones as a result of their 1936 home run output.

The 40-year-old Williams, ranked fifth in the lifetime home run listings, closed in on the elusive 500-homer club. The Red Sox outfielder hit 26 for a career total of 482. He trails Lou Gehrig, No. 4 in the all-time home-run derby, by 12.

Musial, who will be 38 this month, moved within striking distance of the 400-homer mark. Stan hit 17 for a career figure of 388. He is sixth among the lifetime leaders and is runnerup to Mel Ott's National League high of 511.

Ott is third in the all-time rankings. Babe Ruth compiled the most home runs in a career, 714. Jimmy Foss is second with 534.

Williams has played 15 full seasons for the Red Sox.

Musial, who plays both first base and the outfield, has been with the Cards for 16 full campaigns.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Joseph Whelan who died Nov. 4, 1958. Three years have passed. Since you went away. But time cannot erase. The memories we hold so dear. Of your gentle smiling face. You're with us every moment. Every hour of every day. We'll always have you with us. Even though you are away. Sadly missed by his wife, children & grandchildren.

Dear Abby - - -

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Every morning when I drive my son to school I pass a certain house and I see a man come out to get the morning paper in his pajamas. This is not all. He is barefoot but he wears a hat. He recognizes me by my car and he always waves and tips his hat. I am so embarrassed by my little boy that I nearly lose control of the car. Do you think a man who wears a hat when he goes out to get the morning paper in his pajamas and bare feet is quite right in the head? Should I report him, ignore him, or what?

Without Clothes, Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My problem is about clothes. My clothes are so old and everybody's seen them because I wore them last year in the seventh grade. My mother sews quite well, but lately I have a more developing figure. She makes them so square and loose I won't wear them. She says if I won't wear what she has made me she won't make me any more dresses, either. I asked for an allowance to buy my own clothes, but she won't give it to me. What should I do?

Without Clothes, Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: You're not really "without clothes" - you simply refuse to wear the clothes your mother has made for you. If I were you I would trust my mother's judgment.

Without Clothes, Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and my husband is 22. We were married only three weeks when his Mama came to our apartment with an empty suitcase, packed his clothes and moved him out. He stood there like a dummy while she told me to my face I didn't know anything about feeding a husband and she needed him worse than I did. He stayed away three days so I went to his Mama's and we had a big battle and I asked him to come home with me. He said he'd think it over. He's still thinking it over and it is going on a week. My folks signed for me to get married although they weren't very crazy about him, so I can't go home and tell them they were right and I was wrong. My money is running low. Where can I turn?

My folks signed for me to get married although they weren't very crazy about him, so I can't go home and tell them they were right and I was wrong. My money is running low. Where can I turn?

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars. For Wednesday, November 5, 1958. A day for careful thought in all undertakings so that needless errors can be avoided, finances protected. Sound investments are favored, however, CARE.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Self-restraint, astute judgment essential now if you would achieve the best returns from efforts. Especially favored: mining, building, industry and trades generally.
MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Not an entirely easy day. You may be given additional responsibilities which have to be handled carefully. Proceed with confidence, however, and you will do well.
JUNE 22 to JULY 23 (Cancer)—As with most of our "day" signs, be sensibly cautious in all important undertakings and business transactions. Sound matters are sponsored if you use CARE. Finish uncompleted matters before taking up the new.
JULY 24 to AUGUST 23 (Leo)—Especially favor now! In all matters, chemicals, beverages, liquids generally; also confidential and investigative work. Be careful, however, if handling machinery, tools.
AUGUST 24 to SEPTEMBER 23 (Virgo)—The more serene and untroubled you are, the more you will accomplish. Finish up old matters, and you should do as well with good management.
SEPTEMBER 24 to OCTOBER 23 (Libra)—Look forward with optimism; most things should turn out satisfactorily. If you think carefully before acting, you will avoid needless errors.
OCTOBER 24 to NOVEMBER 23 (Scorpio)—If you are a "day" sign, expect too much, you can have a happy, successful day. Especially favored: organizational work, laborious tasks, confidential matters.
NOVEMBER 24 to DECEMBER 23 (Sagittarius)—Wonderfully auspicious aspects on Thursday suggest that you plan wisely now for real action later. Think, but do act before opportunity slips by.
DECEMBER 24 to JANUARY 23 (Capricorn)—Today should please and inspire you to greater effort than you ordinarily put forth. You can really accomplish now.
JANUARY 24 to FEBRUARY 23 (Aquarius)—Cut red tape now; also do away with old habits and actions. (Keep future, definite, don't dilly.) This is a time for ACTION!
FEBRUARY 24 to MARCH 23 (Pisces)—Lucky you! You have so much in your favor, with benefic aspects from your Neptune and from Saturn. It can be a productive, progressive day to do your best!
YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with great energy, determination, self-control and self-reliance. Your possible faults are arrogance, procrastination and too great a fondness for pleasure. Mars is your planet, and you are very capable, efficient and quick in emergencies. However, when things are running smoothly, you may defer action on tasks until the last moment, not knowing that you can achieve quickly, ably. Cultivate your graciousness and correct this tendency to procrastinate (see page 17).

Bids Vary On 12-Point Hands

The majority of West players at the Summer Nationals chose to pass their 12-point hands. The club suit was just too weak.

They were wise to do so. Those who opened wound up as declarer at three no-trump since they all rebid to one no-trump after their partner's one-heart response and their partners all raised to three no-trump.
North always opened the six of spades and South would win the king and return the ten. North would let West hold the second spade trick and although West invariably guessed the queen of hearts, he would wind up down one or two tricks, depending on exactly how the play went.
When West did pass, East always opened one heart and West would bid two no-trump. East would pass and West would make his two no-trump on the nose.
Strangely enough, only one pair played the hand in hearts. One West passed and then jumped to three hearts whereupon East proceeded to set up a spade for a club discard, guess the queen of hearts and make four hearts for top score.

Mine Blast Hearing Set In Two Weeks

RICHWOOD, W. Va. (UPI)—State Miners director Crawford L. Wilson said today he would call another meeting in about two weeks of the hearing board which will determine the cause of a Nicholas County mine blast one week ago that took the lives of 14 miners.

Wilson said depositions from 26 witnesses were taken during a session of the hearing here Monday. Included in the group were two miners who survived the blast and are still confined to hospital beds here.

Wilson said records of the hearing would be transcribed before the next meeting when representatives of the state and federal mines departments, the United Mine Workers Union and the company meet to review them.

The mines director said the witnesses were generally agreed that three explosions occurred in the mine. The blast occurred about 10:30 a.m. Oct. 28 and killed 13 miners outright, including the mine's superintendent and assistant superintendent.

Senate Fight

by Democrat James E. Pugh.

Seven other judgeships, five in the circuits and two on the Court of Appeals, were decided last May, when incumbents were nominated by both parties.

Besides the balloting on political offices, the voters also decided whether three changes should be made in the State Constitution.

One would give the Baltimore mayor and city council power to change the salaries of appointed officials in mid-term, another provides for the appointment of replacements for State's attorneys under certain conditions, and the third would abolish the office of State librarian after the present librarian leaves office.
